

INTRODUCTION

Regretfully, the genocide in Darfur, Sudan, is now approaching its 4 year anniversary.

The United Nations Security Council has passed several resolutions to send up to 20,000 international troops, but the deployment of the peacekeeping force has not happened as originally planned.

The dictator and government of Sudan—responsible for sponsoring the Janjaweed militia committing the worst acts of genocide—has refused to accept the multinational peacekeepers. So the killing and rape continue on a massive scale.

Faith communities are being invited to participate in a variety of activities that will bring awareness to parishioners.
